

Translation of the Letter of Recommendation from A&D-Fachmedien (www.aud24.net) into English:

Dear Mr. Meier

After a very prolific and accordingly labour-intensive first half-year 2007, today I get around to thank you for your extraordinary support for the first English-language issue of our A&D journal for automation and drives.

The pocket-sized A&D To Go has been handed out to foreign visitors of the Hannover Messe 2007. This special edition owes its success not least to your translation services. Particularly, I have a word of praise for your broad spectrum of skills – on the one hand, you have precisely translated German-language technical papers into English, on the other hand, you have translated resp. proof-read reports and other journalistic texts in a way, so that they appear fluent and well-rounded to the "native reader".

Again, many thanks indeed for your cooperation. I would be pleased to contact you again for future English-language projects.

Kind regards
